The Colorado visitor who spends a vacation in the mountains during July and August thinks it is a wonderful climate—which in truth it is, in July and August as then you see these Evergreens at their best, and think they grow in a few years. Such is not the case. We have Evergreens not over six feet high that are over 500 years old. We have dry weather winter and summer, the ground freezes to a depth of six feet, and the springs are late with high winds.

To the one that lives lower down, all this is to his advantage. YOU GET NURSERY STOCK THAT IS HARDY. THEY WILL DO BETTER WITH YOU.
